ER ADMITTING WORKERS WIN 12-HOUR SHIFT TRIAL

Last fall, admitting employees from the emergency department convinced management to agree to a schedule 12-hour shifts instead of the usual 8-hour shifts for a two-month trial period beginning February 5.

“When we took the initiative to propose 12-hour shifts versus 8-hour shifts in the ER admitting unit, we knew it would change our lives, especially as parents with young kids and for some of us who are students with busy class schedules,” said Sherman.

“So far the trial has been successful, and even our collections are up.”

Celena Sherman led her fellow NUHW members in these efforts. They collected written requests advocating for the shift change from their co-workers, created a mock schedule to demonstrate how the new shift would work, and presented their proposal to management.

OUR RAISES AND BONUSES CAME FROM OUR CONTRACT!

When we last negotiated with Providence Tarzana, our bargaining committee won across-the-board increases of three percent per year in our three-year contract. We just received the three percent increase, plus a half percent bonus, in January. This shows that when we negotiate our contract from a position of strength, we can make a big difference in our pay!

WHAT WE WON: GUARANTEED ANNUAL WAGE INCREASES

Effective January 2015: three percent
Effective January 2016: three percent, plus a quarter percent one-time bonus
Effective January 2017: three percent, plus a half percent one-time bonus

Despite management keeping workers in the dark, NUHW members demanded to bargain over the impact and prevailed.

After a months-long evaluation process, the public Petaluma Health Care District selected El Segundo-based Paladin Healthcare to operate Petaluma Valley Hospital. The decision will have to be approved by district voters in a special election in June. NUHW members will continue to monitor this process.

A steward from Los Alamitos Medical Center in Orange County saved a member’s job when she noticed that management was incorrectly counting tardy days that had already been overturned by a grievance victory. The steward succeeded in getting management to rescind the member’s termination notice.

After members at Kindred Hospital Brea in Orange County repeatedly raised concerns about low staffing and its impact on patient care, management finally agreed to staffing solutions proposed by members, including creating a turn-and-lift team, developing a response system to call lights, and allocating time before each shift for an informal huddle to discuss workload.

UNDERSTANDING YOUR WEINGARTEN RIGHTS

Your Weingarten rights guarantee you union representation in a meeting with management that may result in discipline. But you must request a shop steward or a union representative be present in the meeting. When management calls you into a meeting, ask first:

“Can this meeting or discussion in anyway lead to my being disciplined or terminated?”

If the answer is yes or possibly, say:

“I request that my union steward or representative be present for the meeting. Once they arrive or are available, I’ll participate in the meeting.”

If the employer denies the request, the employer has committed an unfair labor practice. You have the right to refuse to answer questions. The employer may not discipline you for such refusal.

WORK-FREE BREAKS NOW MANDATORY

How many times do our breaks get interrupted by a ringing phone, or by a supervisor or manager asking us to help out with something?

As the California Supreme Court ruled recently, “during rest periods employers must relieve employees of all duties and relinquish control over how employees spend their time.... A rest period, in short, must be a period of rest.”

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

- If you are required to be on call during a break, it’s not a break.
- If you get called to work during a break, you must be given another break or paid an hour’s pay for not receiving your full break.

If you or your co-workers are expected to be on call during your break, please contact your shop steward or union organizer, as your employer may be violating California law.
