

NEW HOSPITAL OPENING BARGAINING UPDATE

Last Thursday, our elected staffing committee sat down with CPMC Management for the first time to bargain over the opening of the new hospital. We spent the majority of the meeting asking clarifying questions about proposed shifts and schedules, changes in job assignments, and timelines for the changes. We also asked management when they would be responding to the information request we sent them.

Management reported that they still do not have a lot of details ironed out yet, but we did learn:

- They DO NOT have a date for the rebid yet.
- All three campuses and all departments will be included in the rebid- yes, Davies, too.
- Management said verbally that they are committed to making sure no one loses their jobs, but we still need to secure this commitment in writing.

We wore stickers to show we are all standing united to protect our wages, benefits and job security. The more of us who participate in sticker actions and attend upcoming bargaining sessions, the better chance we have of securing a strong agreement.
