IT’S TIME TO STRIKE!

To win a fair contract, we are striking on Wednesday, November 20 alongside our PSJ colleagues at Queen of the Valley Hospital, Redwood Memorial Hospital, and St. Joseph Hospital in Eureka.

Our PSJ co-workers at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital are holding an informational picket the same day.

We are all united to win better patient care and improved working conditions.

We deserve fair increases to our wages, PTO, and other benefits. Management continues to propose raises of just 2%, far below the soaring cost of living in Sonoma County. They’ve proposed cutting back some of our PTO accrual rates and they want to eliminate our popular PPO plan, which allows us to access healthcare where many of us live, replacing it with risky and high-cost alternatives. Providence also wants the ability to reduce our retirement benefits during the contract. We, along with our patients, are entitled to breathe and work in a safe, mold free hospital, yet management outright rejected our proposal regarding a safe working environment. This is unacceptable.

We deserve a fair contract so that we can afford to live in the community we serve, take care of ourselves and our families, and provide the best quality patient care to everyone who visits our hospital.

Join us on the strike line from 6 A.M. to 6 P.M. at 400 North McDowell Boulevard in Petaluma.
