

WE'RE FIGHTING TO PREVENT A COVID-19 OUTBREAK!

KINDRED HOSPITAL WESTMINSTER IS AT RISK

Ten caregivers have contracted the virus since the pandemic began. And, there are currently approximately 10 patients in the hospital who have tested positive.

Kindred Westminster needs a dedicated COVID-19 unit right away to keep caregivers and patients safe. Right now, nurses, nursing assistants and respiratory therapists are treating COVID-positive and non-COVID patients during the same shift – without adequate PPE.

THESE ARE OUR DEMANDS

Rather than working with caregivers to make the hospital safer, Kindred Westminster executives have REFUSED our requests to:

- Establish a COVID-19 unit that isolates COVID-19-positive patients
- Provide regular testing for caregivers
- Provide sufficient PPE, including N95 masks for all workers
- Safely staff the hospital
- Adequately train workers to use available PPE

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Contact Julie Myers, CEO of Kindred Hospital Westminster, and tell her you support caregivers in demanding a safely-staffed hospital, with a dedicated COVID-19 unit, sufficient PPE, and regular COVID-19 testing!

Cell: (949) 228-5007

Disclaimer: This protest is purely informational; we are not asking employees to strike, engage in a work stoppage, or interfere with the activities or operations of Kindred Hospital Westminster. The Union is not asking customers to refrain from doing business with the Hospital.

A nurse died at Kindred Hospital Brea after contracting COVID-19.

At one point, last month, more than one-third of the patients at Brea had contracted COVID-19. Caregivers are determined not to permit a similar outbreak at Kindred Westminster.