

We're willing to do whatever it takes!

Over the last several weeks, a super majority of us signed a petition saying that we're willing to do whatever it takes to win a fair contract.

On Wednesday June 7, a large group of us visited HR Director Michael Gains in his office to present our petition to him. We were respectful, asked for just a couple minutes of his time, and spoke to him about our concerns.

He was defensive, tried to shut the door in our faces, and repeatedly tried to interrupt us to tell us that we weren't allowed to be there.

"It was really great. There were about 25 of us who went together to deliver our petitions. It's sad that he wasn't really willing to hear our concerns. As our HR Director, he should have been able to give us a little of his time. But we sure made our voices heard, and we let management know that we're serious about winning a strong contract. They definitely got the message."
